

Hess a patriot who will restore integrity

Viewpoints

April 2, 2008

It seems politics in Bay County, as well as the rest of the state and the nation, is no longer a matter of fairness or of voting for a true patriot to serve the people. If we are to understand or care about justice, our Bill of Rights, our Constitution, our sovereignty or what being a part of a constitutional republic means, we must understand the consequences of being uninvolved and how being uninvolved has brought this great nation to the brink of the destruction.

There can be no doubt that the political system we are saddled with and the controllers of the two-party system no longer respect or serve the will of the people. They are interested only in creating a global government where national sovereignty will cease to exist and the elite will control all the people.

We must start reclaiming our government. If we are unhappy with the local, state and federal elected officers who keep switching their party allegiances for personal gain, now is the time to change the system.

Locally, we have a true American hero, first in time of war as a twice-wounded hero and then as a judge in a time of peace. As a community leader, he honored our fallen heroes by personally supervising the Kent-Forest Lawn Memorial ceremonies for years. He now offers us his service in an area requiring dedication, integrity and leadership. If we are to begin our united effort to take back America, there could be no better starting point than to ensure our State Attorney's Office is headed by a true and proven American hero who has the needed knowledge and fortitude.

The history of the 14th Judicial Circuit of the State Attorney's Office is well known, and now we have a candidate, former Circuit Court Judge Glenn Hess, who is offering to fill that critical position and help bring liberty and justice to an area in need. Now is the time for all American patriots to act like the offspring of the founders of this great republic and work hard to take our government back. We must work hard to place only true and tested American patriots in every elected office.

Bob Thompson, Panama City